Founded in 1882 by civil engineer William H. Hardy, Hattiesburg is named in honor of his wife Nattie. Due to it being the center of lumber and railroad industries, it got the nickname Hub City.

Hattiesburg is home to the University of Southern Mississippi, William Carey University and nearby Camp Shelby.