The Lauren Rogers Museum of Arts in Laurel is Mississippi's first art museum. It was founded in 1923 in memory of Lauren Eastman Rogers, Rathbone Dubys of New Orleans was the building architect. The museum consists of five specialized collections: American art, European paintings, Native American baskets, sculptures and works on paper.